(54) Title: A SECURITY DEVICE

(57) Abstract: An improvement in metal and/or explosive detection device is disclosed, the improvement includes incorporating into the detection device a disablement unit designed to temporarily and reversibly incapacitate a human, so that immediately after he is disabled he presents no threat to the security personnel, however after a certain recovery period there are no residual effects from the disablement. Accordingly, various embodiments of detection devices are disclosed, comprising at least one detection unit for recognizing metals and/or explosives and at least one disablement unit for temporarily and reversibly incapacitate a human.
